Statement of Financial Position6

As part of our commitment to transparency, we voluntarily publish an annual report. By clearly reporting on donations, grants, and programming, we hope to build trust within the community and promote governance within the organization to ensure that money we are entrusted with drives the most impact towards students.

Our Mission

The Sujeeth Foundation helps students network into their first job. Nearly half of college graduates struggle with job placement. The Sujeeth Foundation strives to help students practice agency through Career Circles. We partner students with a mentor for a six-week program that explores a job candidates' journey.

Year in Review

This year, through our partnership with the University of Missouri, we supported 300 college juniors in our Career Circle program, helping them navigate career choices and opportunities. Our Four-Star Program pairs students with mentors for a six-week journey that explores the steps to career success. By activating students' agency and fostering ownership of their career paths, we aim to tackle the underemployment problem faced by many new college graduates. Notably, 90% of the students in our program reported that they had not previously engaged with their university's career center, underscoring the value and accessibility of our initiative. Students also rated our program as a four-star experience for driving meaningful career impact.

This year was a test-and-learn period, providing valuable insights to refine our approach. Moving forward, we will continue small-group mentoring sessions and work with partner institutions to identify student leaders and preferred meeting times before the program's kickoff. Mentors will now facilitate sessions, with student leaders supporting coordination, and we'll streamline the calendar to six weeks by combining later sessions. Qualified mentors will meet clear expectations, including 10 years of professional experience, a verified LinkedIn profile, and consistent video presence during meetings. To further enhance the program, we will implement pulse surveys to monitor progress and address challenges early. Alongside onboarding, we will introduce a dedicated training session to help mentors understand and deliver the program content effectively.

Financially, we are proud of the impact we achieved while maintaining a lean budget. Our total expenses for the year were $13,021.57, with 80% of that amount—$10,524.05—directly benefiting students. Thanks to the generosity of our supporters, we raised $20,395, enabling us to expand to an additional school next year. This expansion reflects our commitment to scaling our impact and helping even more students take charge of their career journeys. One student at a time, we are working toward solving the underemployment challenge for new graduates.

Next Year

Looking ahead, we are poised to build on this year's success and continue delivering meaningful impact in the coming year. Our goals for next semester include achieve a Net Promoter Score (NPS) of +10 among students, increase our volunteer pool to 45, expand to an additional school, and serve 400 students. We are striving to enhance the quality of our offerings, while we explore opportunities with additional schools, demonstrating our ability to scale and replicate impact effectively.

Thank you,
Avi Sujeeth
